Plaintiff rejected the deposition on 9/20/21, starting at 930am in NY (1030pm in S. Korea) thru 5am (S. Korea). You are going to harass Plaintiff by tortuous inhuman treatment over night, which causes intense physical or mental suffering. If Ms. Newman wants to start it at 830pm in NY and continue it thru overnight, you can proceed. Deposition can be easily rescheduled.

Again, Plaintiff rejected the deposition of Plaintiff on 9/2021, at 930am in NY.

Ms. Lee,

Thank you for your response. I will be on the virtual videoconference at 9:30 a.m. on September 20, 2021 with a court reporter and interpreter, ready to proceed with your client's deposition. The deposition was scheduled pursuant to the Notice we served last month, to which you never responded or objected until your email sent after the confirmation booking went out Friday afternoon. The Court ordered you to make your client available for deposition before September 30, 2021 and we are proceeding in accordance with that order.

Thank you,

Hayley Newman

We do not agree and reject the deposition in 9/20/21 if you do not adjust the time. We had a similar issue a few years ago and the deposition was held at 8pm in NY and 9am in S. Korea. If you want to proceed it in NY time, you must purchase plaintiff's air tickets and hotel and send us.

Future, Plaintiff reserves her rights to claim or sue defendant and/or his counsel for several causes. Also we reserve def's deposition first.

Ms. Lee,

We have to conduct the deposition during the Court's business hours in the event that we have an issue that requires a phone call to chambers. The hours you suggest do not align with the Court's hours. She chose to file a lawsuit in the United States and your client was directed by the Court to make herself available for the deposition. I can agree to start at 9:30 a.m., if the reporter and interpreter are available, and we are entitled to take her deposition for 7 hours under the federal rules, as you are well aware.

Thank you,

Hayley Newman
